TAKING A NEW LOOK AT ART TEACHING

Frederick Logan, author of the key study The Growth of Art in American Schools, will give a public lecture at Concordia on Tuesday, March 16 at 4 p.m. in Room 420 of the Henry F. Hall Building, 1455 de Maisonneuve West.

Dr. Logan's topic will be "Review and Reassessment of Art Education", reflecting the thesis of his forthcoming book that calls for a whole new approach to the teaching of art. Dr. Logan is professor emeritus at the University of Wisconsin.

His visit is sponsored by Concordia's Faculty of Fine Arts;the public is welcome to attend.
